Reviewed home medication administration records showing warfarin 10mg daily was given for the first 5 days after starting therapy, rather than the 5mg daily dose ordered at the initiating cardiology visit. This dosing discrepancy likely contributed to the supratherapeutic INR and subsequent bleed.

Plan: Vitamin K and 4-factor prothrombin complex concentrate given for reversal. 2 units packed red blood cells transfused. GI consulted for endoscopy given melena and significant hemoglobin drop.
